The Canadians in Italy

The story of the Sicily and Italy campaigns with the 1st and 5th Canadian Divisions, from 1943 to 1945

New temporary exhibit starting on May 17, 2008

To mark the 65th anniversary of the landings in Sicily, and to honour the Canadian who served in the Italian Campaign, this exhibit presents a narrative in word and image of a lesser known part of Canada's war. It describes the five major battles in which the Canadians fought while showing the human experience of the war in Italy. Created and designed but the Juno Beach Centre Association - Canada, under the scientific direction of the Canadian historian Eric McGeer, Ph.D, this exhibit aims to impress upon the viewer the challenges faced by the Allies in Italy as they confronted a formidable enemy in a landscape dominated by mountainous terrain and an infinity of rivers.
